DETAILED ACTION

The period under 37 CFR 1.304 for seeking court review of the decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences rendered July 20, 2007 has expired and no further action has been taken by appellant. The proceedings as to the rejected claims are considered terminated; see 37 CFR 1.197(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7, 9 and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuen (US 5,386,595) in view of Thomas (US 5,720,740).

The difference between Kuen and claim 7 is the provision that the active fastening material comprises a plurality of hooks.

Thomas teaches a fastener wherein the active fastening material may comprise a stitch bonded, nonwoven fabric or any type of fiber known in the art as set forth in col. 25, lines 28 – 52.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the active fastening material of Kuen by providing hooks because Thomas discloses a fastening system that incorporates hooks and teaches that the active fastening material in the fastening system may comprise any type of fiber known in the art, including hooks, as set forth in col. 25, lines 28 – 52.

With respect to claim 9, Thomas teaches a disposable absorbent article wherein the plurality of hooks have a density of about 26 hooks (prongs) per square centimeter as set forth in col. 26, lines 50 – 54.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the configuration and density of the plurality of hooks in order to determine the most effective product since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable range involves only a level of ordinary skill in the art.

As to claim 35, see the rejection of claim 7.
